MORE EVIDENCE OF GUILT.

Auditor Lavelle's Keys to Washington Court-House Found in Harbine's Well.

The City Thronged with Angry Farmers Anxious to Take Vengeance on the Prisoners -Lavelle's Brother Still in Hiding.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Ind., Oct. 15 .- The courthouse conspiracy and the arrest of Auditor Lavelle, Burr Hawes and their accomplices continues to be a sensation here. The city is full of farmers and their families. The street leading to the county jail has been thronged all day, and every one seems anxious to get a glimpse of the prisoners. The jail is well guarded, and there is no likelihood that an attack will be made so long as the officers have control of the situation. Up to this time neither of the men have been able to give bond, although the entire county has been scoured by Lavelle's few remaining friends in hopes of finding some one to bail him out. Hawes's wife has considerable property, and it is said she will deed it to some one else in order to secure bond for her husband. This, however, in view of the demoralized condition of the county records, will be accomplished with much difficulty. if at all. Lavelle has little hopes of getting bail. The refusal of his wealthy father-inlaw to stand between him and the jail doors has completely overcome him, and he looks on the case as one without hope.

In case Lavelle should escape the law on the charge of arson, he will be arrested on the charge of embezzlement. Some time ago he conducted an insurance and real-estate business, and prevailed on the Board of Commissioners to take out a fire policy with him. Premiums to the amount of $114 were paid him, and the policy delivto the commissioners. A few days afterward Auditor Lavelle returned the policy to the company marked canceled. The matter would not have developed had not the fire occurred. With Lavelle desperate needs led to desperate saly enveloped him. Auditor Lavelle's side partner in this matter, Aaron Burr Hawes, is a desperate man, whose record is one of hidden crime for a quarter of a century, although not until now have the bars of prison closed about him. The burning of his own home one year ago is now credited to him. It was fully covered by insurance. He it was who precipitated the trouble that led to the murder of William Lentz, & farmer boy, by the notorious John Hunter, five Michael Lavelle is still at large, and his having disappeared adds moral proof to the guilt of the auditor. The brother's connection with the crime was in the capacity of a guard. He is said to have watched Ledgerwood and Harbine to see that they fulfilled their work. A startling story comes here to-day to the effect that the indignant citizens of Martin county, who are thirsting for the blood of Joseph Crabtree, who is in the Washington jail for safe keeping, charged with the murder of Standford Freeman in 1885, will come here and help indignant Daviess county people storm the jail. The report is not confirmed, but there is great fear that the Martin county mob may take advantage of the excitement and do their work.

Further evidence was discovered by the officers to-day. Ledgerwood and Harthe officers that the informed to the court-house that had furnished by the auditor had thrown in Harbine's well shortly after the men had fired the building and fled. The water was pumped out to-day and the keys found. This is regarded as very strong evidence against the accused men. They also told where the oil had seen secreted before the fire, and on investigation the place was found. Auditor Lavelle received a package from Chicago, Tuesday, and refused to take it. He told the express man the package contained dynamite. which some one had sent him in hopes of blowing him up. The package was examined to-day, and found to contain some kind of an explosive, which it is thought was to be used to complete the destruction of the court-house which the fire had failed to do. The anditor sent his resignation to the commissioners to-day, and it was promptly accepted. Auditor-elect Tomey was sworn in, and will fill the unexpired term, which only lasts until Nov. 1. Some startling revelations may be made to-morrow, as the officers are yet busily at work. A sorrowful scene was witnessed in jail this evening when Auditor Lavelle's little girl was given permission to visit her father's cell. Both wept bitterly. Mrs. Lavelle is unable to see her husband because of prostration. The Auditor's brother, Michael, is still at large. The city is excited because of a rehere to-night to lynch the murderer Crabtree, and it is expected that if a visit is made plepty of belp can be secured from indignant Daviess county citizens. A warm reception will be given them, however, by

OBITUARY.

Count Ludwig Von Arco-Valley, German Minister to the United States

BERLIN, Oct. 15 .- Count Ludwig von Arco-Valley, the German minister to the United States, is dead. Professor Bergmann performed an operation on the Count on Monday last, his stomach having for some time past refused to receive all food. The operation was not successful. The brother and sister of the late minister were present at his bedside when he died.

Count Ludwig von Arco-Valley was in the forty-seventh year of his age at the the time of his death. He has three brothers. one of whom is in the diplomatic service, and two sisters, one of whom is married to Lord Acton, of England. The deceased minister was in the Red Cross Association service during the Franco-German war. While so engaged he was captured by the enemy and came near being shot by them as a spy, but was saved them as a spy, but was saved Thiers, afterwards President of the French republic. Soon after the war he went into the Bavarian diplomatic service, and was secretary of the legation to the Vatican at Rome. Later he entered the imperial German service as a diplomate, and in 1873 was secretary of legation at Vienna. Daring his incumbency of that office he married the actress Janisch, in consequence of which he left the diplomatic service of of time, however, before he separated from his wife, after which he was again received into favor by his government, and served at different times as secretary of the legasecretary of the German embassy to the King of Italy. After some service at Rome he was appointed consul-general to Cairo, Egypt, at which place he remained eighteen mouths, until the spring of 1888, when he received the appointment of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the United States, which office he held at the time of his death.

Gen. W. H. F. Lee. ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 15 .- Gen. W. H. F. Lee, second son of Gen. R. E. Lee, died at his home in Ravensworth, Fairfax county, this evening, aged fifty-four. On the receipt of the intelligence of his death all the bells in this city were toiled. The cause of his death was heart trouble and dropsy. William H. Fitzbugh Lee was a son of Gen. Robert E. Lee, and was born at Arlington, now the great National Cemetery. in 1837. In 1857, while completing his education at Harvard, he was appointed second heutenant in the Sixth Regiment, United States Infantry; accompanied his regiment in 1858 in the expedition to I tah against the Mormons, commanded by Col. Albert Sidney Johnston; resigned his commission in 1859 and returned to Virginia and took charge of his estates, located in the county of New Kent; in 1861 he raised a company of cavalry and joined the Army over county and taken to Fortress Monroe; in 1863 was transferred to the United States prison at Fort Lafayette, where he was confined until March, 1864, when he was transferred to Fortress Mouroe and exchanged; he repaired to his command and served throughout the campaign of 1864. Surrendering with General Lee at Appomattox, he returned to his plantation, on which he continued to reside till 1874. when he removed to his late place of residence. He represented his senatorial district in the State Senate for one term declining a renomination. He has been, president of the State Agricultural Society and was extensively engaged in agricultural pursuits. He was elected to the Fiftieth Congress and was re-elected to the

Judge Lawrence D. Bailey. LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 15.-Judge Law-rence D. Bailey died in this city early this morning at the age of seventy-three years. Judge Bailey went to Kansas from New Hampshire in 1857. He was a journalist by profession, and established the Kausas Farmer. He belonged to the old Free Soil party in Kansas, and was conspicuously identified with the stirring events in that State which preceded and aided in precipitating the civil war. He was elected a member of the first State Supreme Court. and was responsible for the establishment of the State Board of Agriculture, which he organized out of his private fortune.

UNION VETERAN LEGION.

Joseph E. Palmer Elected National Commander and James A. Ross Inspector-General.

READING, Pa., Oct. 15.-The national convention of the Union Veteran Legion reconvened in secret session this forenoon, with over 250 delegates in attendance. The different officers presented their final reports. A proposition to create some of the national officers life members of the National Encampment met with great opposition, and was voted down by a large majority. The resolution asking that President Harrison remove Pension Commissioner Raum was postponed indefinitely. There were a number of candidates for national commander, but the contest nar-Lavelle desperate needs led to desperate rowed down to three. J. C. Finnecum Tossed Out a Third-Story Win dow by Notorious Denver "Crooks."

DENVER, Col., Oct. 15 .- Whisky and jealousy was the cause of a tragedy early this morning which cost one life and will probably land two men in the penitentiary for a long term of years. The notorious Jim Conners and Mike Ryan were drinking in saloon after midnight, and Conners, being goaded and teased by his friends over the fact that mistress, a Mrs. Dalcoff, had deserted him for C. J. Finnecum, became so enraged that be took Ryan and, going to Mrs. Dalcoff's rooms, broke open the door. Finneeum was ordered to dress, after which he was knocked down, tied hand and foot, a gag placed over his mouth, and then carried to the window and thrown into the alley. On the way to the ground, three stories below, his head struck a projecting stone, leaving a portion of the skull. When picked up by the ambulance, a few minutes later, it was found that his jaw was broken, his eyes both out and skull torn open until the brain was oozing out. He was taken to the hospital, where he died this afternoon. He leaves a wife and two children in Center Oak, Pa. Conner and Ryan were immediately arrested and locked up, and Walter Conway is held in jail as a witness.

The notoriety of the offenders made the case an unusally interesting one. Ryan. until lately, was one of the officers in the fire department, but is now held on bail for drugging and robbing a foreigner of $5,000. Conway, a personal friend of the two, has for several years been president of the Board of Aldermen, until the present Democratic administration put him out. Connors was first lieutenant of police at the same time Ryan and Conway were in office. but is now under sentence for attempting to "hold up" and rob a Rio Grande express train, near Grand Junction, three years ago. He has his liberty upon a supersedeas awaiting the action of the Supreme Court.

Very Interesting Interrogatories Put to the Gas Trust in the Nickerson Suit.

Asking About Its Treatment of Patrons in Making Connections-Eight-Hour Case-Grand Jury's Work.

The suit of Augusta S. Nickerson to comrel the Consumers' Gas Trust to furnish gas to the house she has recently erected on Park avenue is one that has attracted some attention. The house was built upon the assurance by the Trust that gas would be furnished. Gas was afterwards refused by the Trust. The complaint was filed in the Superior Court on Oct. 5, and the defendants have been ruled to answer on tomorrow. The plaintiff submits the following interrogatories and asks that the defendant, by some proper officer, be ruled to answer the same under oath, within a reasonable time:

The Eight-Hour Law Sustained.

Judge Harper has overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of John Grisell against the Noel Brothers Flour and Feed Company, and rendered judgment in favor of the plaintiff on the verdict of the jury returned at the beginning of the term. It will be recalled that this was made a test case involving the validity of the eighthour labor law of 1889, being the first case tried under that statute. Grisell worked for Noel Brothers as a driver of one of their delivery wagons from Sept. 1, 1890, till March 12, 1891, his contract being for $1.25 a day. He showed on the trial that he aver- | sents. delivering goods. He sued for pay for the hours he worked over eight hours a day. He recovered about 800 before a justice, and the defendant appealed to the Superior Court, where the jury increased the amount to $125, being all he claimed. The defendant has prayed an appeal. Denny & Elliott. plaintiff's attorneys, say that they have no fears of a reversal, however, as they are convinced the statute is a valid one, and there was no dispute that their client worked more hours than the law required under a general employment of so much a Grand Jury Indictments.

The grand jury yesterday made final report for October, returning indictments as follows: Edward Benson and Benjamin Hatfield, assault and battery with intent to kill; Martin L. Rinehart, false pretenses; James Hurley and Charles Selby, Mason Davis, Casar Wallace, Aaron Bowan and Henry Johnson, petit larceny; Arch Wathel, Laura Ward, grand larceny. A number of other indictments against persons not yet under arrest were returned. The accused above named were arraigned and pleaded not guilty. The grand jury examined 176 witnesses, returned twenty-six indictments, continued five cases and dismissed two. The public institutions were reported in good condition. The evidence against Ed McAfee not being found sufficient, it was recommended that he be discharged.

Professional Nuisances. The professional juror is still on deck in the court-house. "There is one of them now." said a Superior Court judge, a few days since. "His answer will be, when asked what his business is, 'I'm not doing anything just now," "What is the objection to a professional furor?" was asked of the judge. The grand jury yesterday returned indictments against five persons who are accused of creating the disturbance at the Yellow bridge a week or so ago. The arrests will be made to-day. The case of the State vs. William Dickson, in the Mayor's court, was again continued yesterday, pending this action of the grand jury. He will be rearrested to-day. THE FIREMEN'S FIRST BALL

It Proved a Gratifying Success in Both shown only in case it is needed after the a Social and a Financial Way.

> Many Hundred Tickets Sold and the Pension Fund Given a Boom-Good Tone of the Crowd-Plenty of Pretty Girls.

The firemen's ball last night, at Tomlinson Hall, was a success. The floor was crowded with an assembly seldom surpassed on such occasions for numbers or garety. There were hundreds of pretty maidens and handsome gallants, while not a few elderly people participated, either actively or as spectators. The children came along with their parents, too, and the interim of music gave them a chance for fun, rupping and sliding on the oiled and polished floor. Here and there was a blue coat, showing by buttons and cap that he was one of the fire laddies in whom the city places her confidence. Taken all in all, with reference to the fact that it was a public dance, a goodlier assemblage has seldom woord Terpsichore in this city. It was noticeable that, while hundreds were strangers to one another, there were none whose presence was not desirable, and the promoters of ball congratulated themselves the tone of the crowd. The tickets sold will number over 1,300, and it is thought may reach 1,500 when all reports are in. The money thus received, $1 per ticket, will go into the firemen's pension fund, as it is legally known, and will give that worthy association its first substantial boom since the Board of Public Safety, under the charter, put it into operation. Its steady growth must depend upon the legal resources, but every year the firemen intend to give a benefit ball in its behalf. In the course of half a century the fund will be highly creditable to the city, while it will have dispensed a multitude of blessings upon hundredsof retired firemen. A repetition of this ball may be looked for annually, therefore, and citizens generally, judging from the success of the first, will cheerfully support it, because of its no-ble end. The trustees of this fund, and notably E. R. Leach, the secretary, have made strenuous efforts to achieve success, and have been ably seconeded by a large number of the firemen. The early arrivals last night were first entertained by a short concert programme of five numbers by the When Military Band, J. B. Cameron, director. The selections were much appreciated. It was nearly 10 o'clock before the grand march began, with Mayor and Mrs. Sullivan in the lead, followed by Capt. James George, of the 3s engine, and wife. Mrs. Sullivan's face wore a happy smile, hardly less radiant than the diamond hazelnuts in her ears. The column conproved too large to be wieldy for best effects. It was, therefore, cut short. It was just as well, for the programme had long been filled, and every girl in the hall was "just dying to dance," as one expressed it. The dances were twenty in number, with one or two lady's choices thrown in. A recess was taken at midnight for refreshments, and it was a late hour this morning before the orchestra closed the programme with the strains of "Home, Sweet Home."

Lawyer Joe Kealing was the tallest man Webb Robertson was assistant to the chief floor manager. Fire Surgeon Earp occupied a modest nook as a spectator. Chief Webster and assistant Barrett stayed at headquarters on duty for fear of danger to property.

The firemen desire it known that they deeply appreciate the readiness of so many citizens to buy tickets. Commissioners Holt and Catterson were present, but not in dress tail-coats, and they refused all invitations to dance.

Firemen J. J. Cullings, Al Pease, John Keiting and John Monahan took tickets at the door, and Orville Duncan and William Gano acted as receiving hosts. Chief Webster was asked to assist Mayor Sullivan in leading the grand march. His reply was that in such a role he would be as much out of place as in the pulpit. The city's interests were not neglected. Only one or two firemen from each company was allowed to leave, and a team and wagon were on hand to transport

SECRET ORDERS. Good Templars Listen to the Secretary's

Report and an Address. The report of the grand secretary of the Lodge of Good Templars, whose session commenced Wednesday, was presented yesterday. It shows a membership of three thousand in the State. The order is prosperous, and in better working shape than at any time since it was established in Indiana, thirty-seven years ago. A suggestion by the grand chief templar that a book be published giving a history of the order in Indiana was favorably received. interesting feature thus was the address of Thomas J. Legg, of Logansport, representative to the last session of the Grand Worthy Lodge at Edinburgh, Scotland, last spring, descriptive of his trip and of the condition of the order across the water.

Visiting Knights of Pythias. One hundred and thirty members of Ivy Lodge, No. 16, K. of P., came up from Cincinnati last evening to witness the amplified work in the various ranks by Indianapolis Lodge, No. 56, which has a worldwide reputation for the beauty and effectiveness of its ceremonials. The Cincinnati visitors expressed themselves as immensely pleased with the work and with Indianapolis hospitality. Among the visitors were Grand Chancellor Williams, of Ohio, and John B. Peasley, Clerk of Hamilton county.

Gave It the Right Name.

"Hello," said Secretary J. L. F. Steeg yesterday to a political friend, "shake, I don't believe I have seen you since the batof Buil's Run. Great victory, wasn't it?" The allusion to the battle of Bull's Run. as a metaphor for a Democratic victory, has a suggestion that perhaps the Secretary did not intend.

MADAME BARRIOS TO WED. The Romantic History of the Woman Who

Will Marry Martinez Roda. New York Press Spanish papers received yesterday announce the coming marriage of Mme. Barrios, of this city, to Martinez Roda, member of the Spanish Parliament from Gren-Mme. Barrios is a beautiful woman, whose history is a romantic one. At the age of sixteen she was a pupil in a convent school to which President Barrios paid a visit. An entertainment was arranged for his pleasure in which Senorita Vecusidano, the daughter of a proud Spanish family, participated. The President fell in love with her then and there and announced his intention of making her his wife. In a communication to her father he advised him that it would not be well to withhold his consent. But the proud parent had other plans and caused his daughter to be spirited away to Europe. As soon as Barrios learned this he ordered the father to be arrested and detailed to work on the chain gang until he consented to the marriage, which he finally did. The daughter was an unwilling bride. Her father was given a high office and afterwards was a principal in government irregularities by which Guatemala greatly suffered. After a time the bride fell in love with her husband and nine children were born. Barrios was killed while recovering the body of a dead son from the field of battle. Mme. Barrios fled to California, thence to Washington, finally settling in New York. Her income is said to be the largest received by any woman in the world.

Senor Roda is thirty-five, and one of the ablest speakers in the Spanish Parliament. He is also very wealthy.

Standing Up for the Mayoress.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The funny man has broken loose again with harrowing reports of Mrs. Rachel Paxson's experience as Mayor of Kiowa, Kan., a town near the Indian Territory line. The true story of Mrs. Paxson's election was told in the Sunday Post-Dispatch several months ago by a correspondent sent to Kansas to investigate the workings of petticoat government and confirm or refute the stories that were floating over the country about the lady's prowess. The revival of these fables at this time is without justification. Mrs. Paxson is a modest, unassuming woman, who has undertaken tomake a clean town of Kiowa. She is a widow, and the funny stories about her husband are pure myth. In her fight for decency she is opposed not only by the dives, but by many of the respectable citi-zens who don't want to lose the liquor trade. Mrs. Paxson is out of place perhaps in public office, but that is a matter for her to settle with her own conscience. The attacks which have been made on her are outrageously false.

Mormons and Democracy.

Salt Lake Tribune. Last summer, in the so-called Democratic conventions, the men elected on committees and for permanent offices were in the ratio of two gentiles to one Mormon. On Saturday the programme was exactly reversed. What will our gentile friends do when the majority really takes hold to run things!
